Were the flying toilet paper rolls a veiled request to clean up the Sex Pistols act?

A determined fan made it to the stage, and a determined road crew removed him stand there and observe," Klein explained. "The Pistols are already an institution. Their big trip is to get a reaction from an audience, and it's getting harder because everyone knows what to expect."

Sid Vicious, famous for his expectoration, gets one ready to go

A Breath of Fresh (?) Air

As stupid as all of this may sound, it is also the main reason for the existence of punk rock: to strip away the expensive, slick facade that passes for life in Western culture, and get back to human basics of emotion and physical involvement. Because of the tremendous sophistication and ease of present lifestyles, it's getting harder to wake people up, especially when even the most bizarre behavior is commonplace.

As self-destructive and moronic as much of the punk scene looks to others, it is a healthy breath of fresh air. If it takes a totally negative image like the Pistols transmit, so be it.

But the big question is: where do we go from here?

According to Klein, Johnny Rotten summed up his visit to the United States by saying, "America is great; it's just the people that are in bad shape."

James Brown in Oakland Saturday

Soul singer James Brown will appear at the Oakland Auditorium Saturday at 8 p.m. Soul band the 9th Creation will also perform.

Brown was one of the first musicians to promote black pride, with songs like "Say It Loud, I'm Black and I'm Proud." But his recordings have always been steeped in rhythm and blues roots, songs like "Out of Sight," "It's a Man's, Man's, Man's World," "Sex Machine," "Everybody's Doin' the Hustle and Dead on the Double Bump."

Brown also gained much attention for his non-stop motion on-stage, with more jumps, twists and knee-drops than any competitors, and influenced many latter-day performers like Mick Jagger. He continues to tour most of the year, and releases albums frequently.
